DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Victor M. Twigg Farm is located on the east side of Sampson Rock Road, approximately 300 feet from the road. It is situated on the western slope of Big Savage Mountain. The three springs just south of the farmhouse form Cranberry Swamp and are the source of the Savage River which flows southwest out of the Swamp.

The farm consists of a frame house, bank barn and chicken house. An earlier house stood just south of the house near the springs and a quaking aspen tree.

The present farmhouse is a two-story, four bay by one bay, double entrance cross-gable house based on the ell plan. The house is covered with asbestos shingle siding and rests on a stone foundation. The cross gable roof is asymmetrically placed and is covered with corrugated metal.

The double entrance facade faces northeast and has a one-story hipped roof wooden porch. The porch rests on brick piers, has a tongue and groove wood floor, and the roof, covered with corrugated metal, is supported by three tapered, square wooden posts and a solid paneled balustrade.

There is a one-story, one bay wide, hipped roof addition on the northwest ell addition. This addition has an entrance on the northeast elevation.

There is a one-story hipped roof addition set into the corner of the main block and ell on the southeast elevation. It rests on a cinder block foundation.

All windows are 3/1 sash with drip-molded window heads and plain board surrounds. There are single pane windows in each attic story gable end of the northeast, northwest and southeast elevations.

There are two interior Mt. Savage combination white glazed brick and non-glazed brick chimneys: one in the main block and the other at the SW gable end of the ell.

The frame bank barn with a forebay and stone foundation lies northeast of the house. The chicken house lies southeast of the house.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Victor M. Twigg house was constructed in the late 19th century and the bank barn in c. 1900. The house is typical of the type of rural dwellings found in Garrett County, except for a slight variation in the plan - the asymmetrical cross gable roof.

Also, the chimney material is of special note. Mt. Savage enamel brick or glazed brick was manufactured in nearby Mt. Savage at the turn of the century. It was commonly used in chimneys, fireplaces, and on facades of local commercial buildings.
